Artists to Discuss Temporary Art Projects with Public

Billboards, walls, sidewalks, bus seats, mail, trees, park benches, and radio waves around Memphis have all been taken over by temporary public art over the past few months. Now, artists involved with the ten projects that were part of the UrbanArt Commission's 10th Anniversary, Interactions/Interruptions, are prepared to discuss their involvement with public art, their expectations for their projects, and their reactions to the public response. The panel discussion will be held on May 30 6:30 PM at the Memphis College of Art Callicott Auditorium

Artists confirmed to participate include Greely Myatt, Delbert Sisk, Catherine Blackwell, and Tad Lauritzen-Wright. They will be discussing their temporary projects and taking questions from the audience.

Interactions/Interruptions was made possible through the generous support of the following organizations and individuals: First Tennessee Bravo Award, Hyde Family Foundations, National Endowment for the Arts, Deupree Family Foundation, Waddell & Associates, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Goodman, Scott and Carolyn Heppel, and Mrs. Sandy Goldstein; with additional support from Memphis College of Art, ArtsMemphis, the Tennessee Arts Commission and Clear Channel; and special thanks to the Memphis Area Transit Authority, City of Memphis Division of Park Services, Memphis Public Library and Information Center, the Riverfront Development Corporation, Memphis Light Gas and Water, Archer Malmo, the Center City Commission, Belz Enterprises, the South Main Association and the Center for Southern Folklore.
